Good skills when managing the ball, good mastery of the ball in all conditions. The first touch has always a good direction, with the right function (preparing next action), especially when there is no pressure. The execution of the gesture is very clean but not quick.

The shooting technique is decent.
The weak foot is rarely used.

Good fluidity in movements.
Capacity of strength to be implemented, within a normal range.

Not quick, at first, there's an evident difficulty in the reaction, when he starts.

Some pain (knees, back) has limited his dynamism.

Good while managing the ball.

He often prefers to play with the teammates, rather than taking a personal action.

He seeks more a support position, rather than finding the space forward.

He's not fast and not very reactive –

this limits him when he's playing against some opponents that are faster or better technically. His good positioning helps a lot; he tries more often to intercept rather than tackling.

A very good approach to work, and good work-ethic. Always looking for improving and confrontation.

Not a big leader, but a very good teammate, he tends to perform the task requested.

He adapted very quickly to any drills or different situations given.

INDIVIDUAL ASPECTS

EFFICIENCY

KNOWLEDGE OF THE GAME

He is always effective while moving the ball.

A good attitude in all phases of possess (starting the play & building the actions)

HIGHER QUALITY: RECEIVING THE BALL

GREATER DIFFICULTY FOUND: RAPIDITY

FINAL EVALUATION

A boy very dedicated to work, with a decent technical background. A bit shy at first, but a good approach and a good relationship with all the relevant professional figures and the group of players.

His speed and explosiveness in movement certainly needs to be improved, especially through both technical and physical work at high speed and intensity.

In the pitch, when he plays his choices are right, but his pace of the game is too staid and slow.

We think he improved highly, in this period with us.
